Second Vessel With 200 Aboard, En Route To Cuba, Turns Back; Others Are Stranded

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
CHERBOURG, France—The German liner Orinoco en route to Cuba, on radioed instructions from Berlin, returned to Hamburg with more than 200 German Jews aboard—the first large group of refugees to be returned to the Reich. Many of the refugees attempted to jump overboard in Cherbourg waters when the ship began turning back. It was understood that the German authorities would not immediately intern the returned Jews, as has been the Nazi policy, but would demand

What City Leaders Think About Answering Coughlin

There is a movement afoot among U. S. Jews to buy time on the radio following Father Coughlin's Sunday afternoon talk to reply to his attacks on the Jews. What is your opinion on this plan?

Answers:
Jack B. Kammins, 1048 Consolidated Building: I think it is a splendid idea. There is a need for a rebuttal on the radio, and this is best done on a national scale. The man who gives this talk must, however, be influential and well respected by the non-Jewish people, and also must know the accurate facts about the situation. It would defeat our purpose just to make general counter accusations. Father Coughlin's allegations are all vulnerable, and I think a national radio rebuttal would help the Jews. U. S. Jewish Leaders Arrive In London For Refugee Talks

By BORIS SMOLAR

(J. T. A. Chief European Correspondent)
PARIS.—A group of leaders of American Jewish relief organizations arrived in London, it was learned here, for negotiations regarding establishment of an international corporation to raise a loan for settlement of refugees overseas. The corporation would implement the arrangement made with the German Government by George S. Rublee, former director of the International Refugee Committee, for orderly emigration of 150,000 able-bodied Jews and 250,000 of their dependents within five years.

Since Germany made fulfillment of the arrangement dependent on establishment of an international corporation, the present project has been under close examination by important bodies since March. The present arrival of American Jewish leaders is interpreted as indicating that formation of the corporation is feasible, although preparations are expected to last several weeks.

The corporation would supplement another fund raised within the Reich consisting of 10 per cent of the German Jews' wealth and administered by a board of Jewish and non-Jewish trustees. While the German fund would be spent for facilitating emigration of "non-Aryans," the international corporation would have to pay the further cost of settlement. The emigrants leaving the Reich first would repay loans to both funds as soon as they were earning enough in their new homes to make this possible, thus enabling successive groups to leave the Reich. The German Government has undertaken to see that the prospective emigrants are not mistreated while awaiting their turns to leave.

The Intergovernmental Committee, in considering sites for colonization, is giving particular attention to British Guiana, the Philippine Islands and the Dominican Republic. An experts' commission has already reported that there exists land in the interior of British Guiana making a two-year experiment at colonization worth while, and the British Government has promised to facilitate such settlement, although it has indicated no financial support. Another commission, sponsored by President Roosevelt's Advisory Committee on Refugees, has completed a survey in the Philippines, centering on the island of Mindanao, and its report will be published shortly. A third commission sponsored by the advisory committee is investigating colonization possibilities offered by the Dominican Republic.

300 Scholarships At 200 Colleges For Student Exiles

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK—During the academic year now ending, 200 colleges have created some 300 scholarships, worth over $200,000, for refugee students, it was announced by Catherine Deeny, executive secretary of the intercollegiate committee to aid student refugees. This will enable the most outstanding students of Central Europe, whose studies have been interrupted and whose lives have been endangered because of the policies of the Nazi government, to continue their studies in American colleges.

Of the scholarships that have been secured through the cooperation of administrations, faculties and student bodies, 112 have already been filled by the International Student Service. Of these, more than eighty have been used this year and the remainder will be used next year. Of the students placed by International Student Service, about 55 per cent are Jewish and 45 per cent are Gentile. The participating colleges are located in thirty-nine states and the District of Columbia.

Hillel Studies Problems

Courage Needed To Solve Refugee Problem, ORT Country Representatives Hear

Special
WASHINGTON, D. C.—Cooperation by nations, supplementing the work of philanthropic agencies and individuals, is necessary to "more decisively alleviate the pitiful plight" of the refugees, in the opinion of Francois de Tesson, member of the French Chamber of Deputies.

Speaking at a luncheon tendered him here at the Mayflower

Hotel by the ORT Congressional Committee, Mr. de Tesson, a member of the French ORT Parliamentary Committee, told the guests, including representatives of countries where ORT operates, that courageous action is needed to handle the refugee problem more adequately.

"Philanthropic organizations, men of good-will, and relief organizations," he said, "have done their best to improve the situation. Their contribution has naturally been limited."

CONVERSATION PIECE

ACTUAL INVESTIGATION INTO CURRENT RUMORS AGAINST JEWS SHOWS TRUTH

KATHERINE HAYDEN SALTER

The Nazi onslaught upon the values precious to Christendom and Judaism is particularly terrifying because it is so Teutonically thorough, and at the same time so Me-phistophelian in its tactics. It capitalizes on human weakness and human decency. It is the immemorial wolf in sheep's clothing—and the sheep need to be prepared in their dealings with it.

The Nazis start out with a few perfectly clean, fixed, indomitable ideals. The first is that the Nordics are the Chosen People. By the Nordic race the Nazis mean the pure and unadulterated German—whatever that may be. By adopting this first idea, the inferiority complexes of millions of Germans have automatically given way to superiority complexes. The Nazi Germans are now an aggregate, homogeneous mass of mighty, and in their own eyes, infinitely superior "folk" completely surrounded (save to the southward) by jealous enemies. All their suffering and seeming defeats are caused by the Jews and these malicious outside enemies.

The second idea is that even if there is such a thing as truth in the world, it need not concern the German race. The only truth for the Germans is that they are the greatest people that ever existed, and that all progress, achievement, glory that has ever been has stemmed from them. Whatever has not stemmed from them can be trampled upon with a free conscience. And whatever means can be found to further German ends must be used. One of the supremely effective means is the lie—the little lie, the big lie, the white lie, the pure lie. One fits the lie to the occasion. And the most perfect use that the lie can be put to is the incessant vilification of one's enemies.

The third idea is that personal, human freedom is a kind of trash not to be bothered with by a dynamic people like the Germans. Only fools countenance the confusion, disunity, and blundering that a respect for individual human freedom brings about in any society.

A fourth idea is that people are naturally low, mean, vindictive, suspicious, and gullible—and use can and must be made of all these qualities in the creation of a great dynamic state.

A fifth idea is that the way to delude innocent people is to harp incessantly, hypnotisingly on their self-acknowledged faults but never for one instant to acknowledge even the shadow of a fault in oneself. One must always take the role of the martyred champion crusading for just rights, and always put one's enemies in the position of being mean, unjust cravens who are deliberately injuring blameless innocents.

Armed with these guiding principles, the Nazis, by means of the radio, the printed word, economic and ideological penetration, are storming the civilized world. They have not yet gotten themselves involved in an open war, and they hope to gain all their ends without a battle. Their strength lies in their whole-souled commitment to their ideas. The weakness of their opponents, the Christians and Jews, is that though they have as their ideal the highest standards of morals, ethics, and divinity known to the human race, they too seldom try to live up to them. They are careless and confused. Many of them are more interested in maintaining their private fortunes and a status quo that keeps them safe, than anything else in the world. Many of them are resentful of the hardships put upon them by life and society and are out to get some kind of revenge on somebody. Others of them are tied up in knots of prejudice and materialism or both that have prevented the avowed basic concepts of Christianity or Judaism from ever really penetrating their lives at all.

The Nazis understand the weakness of their followers and their enemies; and for their opening and continuing gun to break down the opposition's morale, they use anti-Semitism. It includes hatred, revenge, dishonesty, coercion, sadism and racial conceit in an amazingly strong combination. It is a great weapon for the Nazis because it embodies all their own basic concepts about life.

Hating the Jew can become a major occupation for mediocre people. It swells their egos to frog-like dimensions; it is an orgy of "holier-than-thou-ness" that is forever incomprehensible to people who like variety, vitality, idea, adventure, originality; but to provincial people who, like cannibals, consider it a major comfort and satisfaction.

Then, too, anti-Semitism makes a perfect outlet for the gossiping proclivities of the idle and ill-informed. The wildest tales can be passed about, enlarged upon, and accepted. And when the tales are not tall ones, but are merely pronouncements that are made as being obvious facts, too well known to be questioned, they are even more dangerous than the sheer fabrications.

It is right here that the supreme test will come for the average American. Say that there is a group of people who casually start talking about the "Jewish problem," two-thirds of them potential anti-Semites, and one-third informed with some ordinary information, a tendency to question the truth of what they hear, and a belief in Christianity and Americanism that makes them try to deal always with individual cases instead of groups, and as little as possible in wholesale generalities or race theories.

"All Jews are Communists," says someone.

"Are they?" responds the skeptic. "Is Henry Cohen down the street a Communist?"

"No, he isn't—but all Jews are Communists!"

"Is Governor Lenman a Communist?" asks the skeptic.

"No—but all Jews are Communists anyway—and they all monopolize. They own all the business in this country!"

"Do they?" asks the skeptic. "I guess they own a lot of the clothing business—and a lot of the great stores—and (the best stores in the world, by the way!). But how about other businesses that are important in this country? Do they own, say the A. and P. stores?"

"No."

"Do they own the five and ten cent stores?"

"No."

"Is the Standard Oil Company Jewish?"

"No."

"Is J. P. Morgan Jewish?"

"No."

"Is Charlie Schwab Jewish?"

"No."

"Were John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Mellon and Andrew Carnegie Jewish?"

"No."

"Is Henry Ford Jewish?"

"Heavens, no."

"Is Knudson of General Motors Jewish?"

"No."

"Are the railroads Jewish?"

"No."

Seymour
Pinkus

By G. M. COHEN

Maybe you can figure it out. Last Sunday Seymour Pinkus, who regularly writes this column, but who is in Chicago on his honeymoon, and Ginger Schwartz, head of the society department, were married. This Saturday Earl Loudermilk, circulation manager, promises to love, honor and obey. And then on the twenty-third of the month or thereabouts, another simcha, with yours truly figuring in.

What Indiana rabbi of long standing is leaving his pulpit under subtle pressure in the near future because he is too liberal for his ostrichlike congregation? The blood of the prophets has turned into water. Rabbi Charles E. Shulman, brother of South Bend's Rabbi Albert Shulman, has been invited to deliver the regular noon address in the World's Fair Temple of Religion on National Federation of Temple Brotherhood Day, June 19. Rabbi Shulman is fast becoming one of the leading reform rabbis in the nation, if he has not reached that state already. Fort Wayne has added a paid director for its Jewish Community Center in the person of Mr. Finklestein of Chicago.

Personal nomination for one of the best liked younger men in town—Burt Kohn. Doug Brown sat on the bench in Judge Herbert R. Wilson's court Wednesday. Doug has been judge pro tem. in almost every court in the city in the past few years. Teets Dann wanted to know where we got that picture of him we ran when he was elected president of the J. C. C. A. It was his Indiana University graduation portrait. Incidentally, Teets is probably the most successful of the younger Jewish lawyers. Irv Ruben has more friends in the Jewish community than any other one person. Shirley Einbinder, who broke her arm, was not to have been swimming instructress at Broadmoor, but in charge of the children's playground. Earl Montgomery, head of the Broadmoor swimming pool, said two girls asked for the position as early as Sunday, having read of Shirley's mishap in The Post Saturday.

Shapiro's are moving the fixtures around again. This time the changes are being made with a cafeteria style arrangement in mind to take care of the heavy noon luncheon crowd. Did you know that Dan Frisch was the big mover behind the election of Rabbi Solomon Goldman to the presidency of the Zionist Organization of America?

Here are some brain teasers for some of you who think you are informed on Jewish life. Bernice Kaplan, our old demon reporter, who is subbing in the office this week, has returned from Indiana University where she was a big Hillel booster or a big booster of Hillel. At the Hillel House one of the most popular evenings was that devoted to a weekly Professor Quiz. Well, we'll see. Send in your answers promptly.

Irv Ruben hasn't been able to sleep nights since he lost to Dick Efroymsen in golf, and, finally, his big moment came last week—he regained his reputation and also 80 cents in cash. . . . The moths had a gay old time all winter in Abner (Tazan) Schwartz's leopard swim suit, so now Abby will have to look around for another way of expressing his sartorial elegance. . . . Leonard Solomon is recovering from scarlet fever, of all things; he's been getting quite a heckling from friends on that score. . . . There was quite a mixup at the Old Folks' Home luncheon last Tuesday at Beth El Temple. Rabbi Charry, who was in his study, was one of the speakers and asked the waitress to call him when he was scheduled to appear. However, she forgot. While the rabbi fretted in his study, wondering about the delay, below the guests wriggled in their seats trying to answer the same question.

Berlin Complains When Polish Trade Declines

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
WARSAW—The Berlin Chamber of Commerce has written to the Warsaw chamber regarding the sudden curbing of Polish imports from Germany, pointing out that even orders previously placed by Polish importers have been cancelled. The Berlin chamber threatened to force German firms to liquidate their Polish branches. "We do not want to believe that this action has anything to do with the boycott conducted for years against Germany by the Jews," the letter said.

Lawyer Brings In 50

PHILADELPHIA—Fifty Jewish refugee children from Germany brought to America by a Philadelphia lawyer were lodged on the grounds of a Jewish home for the aged. The young refugees came to America on regular visas under the immigration quota. Their passage was financed by Gilbert J. Kraus, Philadelphia lawyer, and a group of friends.

Vacation Plans of Organization Heads Vary From Lakes To N. Y. World's Fair

Vacation plans already loom as the oasis of many an exhausted club woman and proverbially "tired" business man. Although individual tastes vary from the wondrous excitement of the New York World's Fair to the fresh cool breezes and soothing quiet of northern lakes, the wanderlust has seized Indianapolis organization presidents.

Leo Selig, president of the Beth El Zedeck Men's Club, intends to take his family up to the lakes some time during July "just for a rest." New York attracts Mrs. Sam Dorfman, president of the Old Folks' Home. Rabbi Elias Charry, recently elected president of the Zionist organization, Mrs. Cherry and "Puff" also will be New York visitors and will spend their summer vacation in the metropolitan area.

The Junior Hadassah national convention in Baltimore Labor Day week-end is the destination of Miss Bess Draizar, local president. Mrs. S. A. Silberman, president of Hadassah, hopes to relax from the heat with a short visit in Chicago.

These employees are given a continuous training and are constantly informed on every new fashion, all style trends, materials, new shades as well as their proper usages. KEMPLER RADIO CO.:

It's getting warm and stuffy, isn't it? Still, weather or no, you must face the family washing this Monday and oh how you dread it. Some of you, I know, have washing machines, and they do a pretty fair job. Yet, they are not thorough and efficient and as a result you are just tucked out as if you bent over an old-fashioned washboard all day. At Kempler's you can get the sensationally new Bendix home washer. You put your clothes in dry, twist a little lever and presto, change, it washes, rinses in three waters and damp dries your clothes without any attention at all. And here's a good feature, too, the Bendix holds nine pounds of clothing at one time. Call Kempler's and arrange for a free demonstration, and become a lady of leisure once again.

INDIANA FUR CO.:

For those of you who are new graduates and you who think you know a lot anyway, here's a post-graduate course—in keeping cool. Just walk along East Ohio street, feeling mighty hot and tired, until you come to lots of plate glass with INDIANA FUR COMPANY all over it. . . . And just because you don't have anything else to do, you look at all the windows, and decide to inspect the inside of the store, too. And what a delightful cool breeze greets you when you step inside. . . . Racks and racks of furs greet your heat-glazed eyes, but as you inspect the cunning "chubbies," slim-fitted coats, boxy styles, from the most luxurious furs to those which are serviceable and hard-wearing, your temperature goes down gradually. . . . Then you begin to wonder how you would look in one of these beautiful INDIANA FUR COMPANY models, and before you know it, you're trying several on. . . . There's one coat that looks as if it were just made for you—"it does something for you"—and you decide that now is the best time to buy furs, so that when fall comes, and everyone else is rushing madly around and getting picked-over styles, you will be all ready to be the fashion plate of your set.

Wayne Social Worker, 4 Years In Palestine, Says Jews Will Win

SPECIAL
FORT WAYNE, Ind.—Palestine will be the Jewish homeland, if only because of the "courage that has driven the colonists to build what they have from a desolate, unproductive country," and neither political moves of Great Britain nor physical attacks from the Arabs can kill their spirit, in the opinion of Miss Minette Baum, social worker recently returned from four years in Palestine.

The little far eastern British mandate never had been profitably settled, Miss Baum maintains, until in recent years when the industry of the modern Zionists has transformed it.

"The basis of any well-organized national economy is agriculture," Miss Baum said, "and the Jews have given Palestine a potential agrarian future. The land they have cultivated has been for the most part uncultivable in the Arab conception—swampy or ultra dry. With tremendous effort and lasting patience, this land has been turned into fertile producing areas."

Some Christians have criticized the Zionists for not physically carrying on the same battle as the Arabs. Miss Baum maintains that the Jews have fought back, but not to spill blood. "A shooting never settled anything. We Jews have interpreted our fight to be that in which we demonstrate that we can make Palestine a better place to live in for Jew and Arab alike. We have done that. Most of the Arabs are pitifully poor, and, of the few that are wealthy, many became so because of selling land to the Jews."

She believes that German Nazi money and propaganda have played no small parts in fomenting Arab terrorization. Such tactics would be doubly effective for Nazis—killing Jews and frustrating the British attempts at peace at the same time.

"I don't know what the effect of the recent British White Paper is going to be immediately," she said, "but I do know that the Zionist movement will not perish. It is good and I have faith that what is good and moral shall prevail. I have faith in my people."

Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Levin and sons, Ben and Alec, have motored to Lansing, Mich., for the graduation of their daughter and sister, Miss Jessie Levin, from Michigan State University, Monday, June 12. After attending Butler University for two years, Miss Levin completed her requirements for a B. S. degree in dietetics and nutrition at Michigan State in January of this year. She is now engaged as the chief nutritionist for Albers Super Markets of Cincinnati, in charge of the health foods department.

Franklin Kin Aids

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—In 1788 Benjamin Franklin contributed $25 to aid in the erection of a new synagogue of the Mikveh Congregation in Philadelphia.

More than 150 years later, Franklin's great-great-great-grandson, Franklin Bache Huntington, emulated his distinguished ancestor by announcing a contribution to the building fund of the local Jewish Community Center, ground for which will be broken on June 25. Dr. Ben Zion Bokser is rabbi of the congregation.

*Miss Helen Ann Cohn entertained at her home last Saturday night with a surprise party in honor of her sister Lenore, who was graduated from Manual Training High School this week. Twenty-five couples attended, and the honor guest received many lovely gifts.

Mrs. Sidney Weinstein, 4801 Washington boulevard: I am very much against such a plan. I think that the best way we can fight this problem is to minimize the publicity on it. There are other ways of attacking these talks, and the notoriety which such a policy would arouse would be detrimental to the Jewish cause.

Leo Kaminsky, 601 Fletcher Trust Building: I don't believe this plan is worth while. It will only give Father Coughlin something to shoot at. The public is always attracted by a fight, and it takes two to make a fight. If we should come out into the open with a counter-attack, this would give Coughlin an opportunity for more falsifications, and the ordinary public, naturally taking sides, undoubtedly will not be favorable to us.

Mrs. J. A. Goodman, Kessler boulevard: If the program can be so set that it follows immediately upon Father Coughlin's talk, so that the same listening audience would have its radio turned on, and an outstanding person, preferably non-Jewish, such as Dorothy Thompson, would be the speaker, this might be a valuable plan. This should be an educational program, however, not one of propaganda or attack, and the material in the talk should consist of an explanation and dissemination of Jewish life and ways. This should be under the direction of a supervised committee, unbiased, with no axes to grind.

Rabbi Elias Charry, Beth El Zedeck Temple: I can see no value in this plan. Half-truths and full lies should not elicit an answer from us. If the Christian world is not aroused by these falsities, there is nothing we can do about it. Furthermore, it takes a great deal of time to analyze these accusations. Father Coughlin can say what he pleases, but in order for us to prove that he is wrong, we need the literature and facts, which would take too long for a radio program. In addition, we are giving undue importance to his virulence.

Miss Bernice Kline has returned after visiting in Cincinnati.

Isidore Feibleman spent several days in New York last week.

Beth-El Picnic Set

Beth El Zedeck Temple will hold its annual picnic Sunday, July 30, at Columbia Park. Dr. Leon Berger, Mrs. Aaron Glick and Leo Selig are co-chairmen of the affair. Committee appointments and details of the outing will be announced later.

Ralph Roth Junior Kadimah President

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—Ralph Roth is the new president of the Junior Kadimah. Other new officers are Louis Rosenfeld, vice president; Eleanor Kahn, secretary; Sadie Cossman, treasurer; Dave Jacobowitz, sergeant at arms, and Bernice Soslovsky, reporter. Plans are under way for an outing at Dunes State Park June 15 with Leonard Saunders as general chairman. Mrs. Jacobowitz, Mr. Roth, Miss Kahn, Zelma Zonnenberg and Sylvia Paskin will assist.

where they haven't monopolized, aren't there?"

"Yes—but they own the movies and radio and theater!"

"That is partly true, I'm sure," says the skeptic. "But who had the initiative to develop the movie from the nickelodeon to the 'Covered Wagon,' 'The Big Parade,' the Will Rogers movies, the Shirley Temple movies, 'You Can't Take It With You,' 'A Day at the Races,' 'Mickey Mouse,' 'Snow White,' etc., etc., etc?"

"The Jews, chiefly, I guess."

"Who have found the great directors and movie stars and helped to develop them—stars that are nearly all 'super-Aryan,' and most often 'super-Hibernian'? And who made the movies a form of amusement that is cheap enough to be within the reach of the littlest newsboy?"

"The Jews."

"And who developed radio broadcasting from a buzzing in the ears to Toscanini's orchestra, the Town Meeting of the Air, and Roosevelt's and Hoover's speeches, and international broadcasting, and Charlie McCarthy?"

"The NBC—with a Jew as president."

"And what is the freest broadcasting system in the world—the most catholic?"

"The American, I guess."

"But, says someone else, 'The Jews own the press and control public opinion and make propaganda against the Germans!'"

"Are the McCormicks of the Chicago Tribune Jewish?"

"No."

"Is William Randolph Hearst Jewish?"

"No."

"Is your home-town local paper Jewish?"

"No."

"Is the Scripps-Howard Syndicate Jewish?"

"No."

"Are the Reids who own the New York Herald-Tribune Jewish?"

"No."

"What, by the way," asks the skeptic, "is considered the soundest, most reliable newspaper in the United States?"

"The New York Times, I guess."

"Is it owned by Jews?"

"I don't know."

"The answer," says the skeptic, "is yes."

"And, incidentally, if the Jews were debauching the press for their own advantage, as you say they are doing, do you think they would publish in full Adolph Hitler's speeches, in which he blames the Jews for the ills of the whole world and intimates that the way to solve the Jewish problem will always be the German way? Do you think it does the Jews any good to have you gullible people read what Hitler says and believe it? And yet they print in full what he says; and the NBC broadcasts his major speeches in full, with translations of what he says as he is saying it. Does that sound like a debauched press and radio?"

This could go on indefinitely, and in every field. But too frequently there is no skeptic there to ask questions and pick balloons, so fancy and malice flow on unconfined. The Nazis know how to make the most of the mentally idle who catch at phrases and pseudo-information and they use them for their own nefarious ends—to disrupt the spiritual and political cohesion of a country.

They know that once they get anti-Semitism flourishing, the chief obstacle to their triumphant progress on all fronts is down. With the rise of anti-Semitism goes the decay of Christianity so far as it is embodied in the Lord's Prayer, the Sermon on the Mount, the Parables, the moral teachings and example of Christ. A credal shell of it can continue with anti-Semitism as an ally—but it is a mere shell.

Our only defense against Nazi propaganda is our own good sense and clear headedness, our capacity for discriminating, or at least trying to discriminate, between fiction and fact, our own consistent devotion to the Bill of Rights, not only as a nation but as individuals. And for those of us who are Christian, we should remind ourselves daily that there is not room for both anti-Semitism and the Lord's Prayer in the same spirit.—Reprinted from the Anti-Nazi Bulletin.

Between You and Me—

by PAUL A. PETERS

WALKOUT: Canadian non-Zionists for the most part object to belaboring Britain about its White (if you are color blind) Paper. Three Canadian B'nai Brithers who came to New York for the District No. 1 convention recently walked out in high dudgeon during a sermon by Dr. Ira Einsenstein, of the Society for the Advancement of Judaism. . . . When the speaker called Britain Fascist.

WARNING: New York's popular Lt.-Gov. Charles Polotti, an Italian, has been addressing many Jewish functions of late. . . . He was one of the featured speakers at the B'nai B'rith banquet in New York City. . . . Where he told of informing his chief, Governor Lehman, by telephone that he was on his way to speak at the B'nai B'rith affair. . . . The Governor, he said, laughingly remarked: "Look out, Charlie, or they will be getting you to join a shul."

PLAN: One of the plans, for some reason abandoned, of the Zionist campaign for withdrawal of the White (if you are color blind) Paper was to take a full page ad in The Times of London. Appealing to Britain for fair play for the Jews. . . . It was to have borne the signatures of two prominent American Jews.

INTERVIEW: It is interesting, at this time, to recall an interview Anne O'Hare McCormick had last November with President Roosevelt on the subject of foreign policy. . . . As published in the November 13, 1938, issue of the New York Times Magazine, the writer said the President "may work quietly on the British to keep Palestine open to Jewish immigration." . . . She continued: "That the British Government will keep faith with the Zionists he does not doubt. He speculates on something more. Instead of farther circumscribing the homeland, he wonders if a compromise could not be found by which it might be extended a little if the British give compensation to the Arabs in the form of irrigation, housing, farm equipment, to enable them to develop their land on a scale comparable to that of the Jews."

ZEPPELIN: Opera singer Vera Schwartz who will be Hollywooding shortly, is the daughter of the late David Schwartz, German Jew who was the real inventor of the dirigible known as the Zeppelin.

BOTTOM: Writing in New Masses, William Pickens, an official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, explains in the following manner why the Negro must be opposed to Fascism. . . . "no American Negro can favor the downing of the Jew for being a Jew; for the Negro knows that in this country if a Jew is put at the bottom, the Negro will be put somewhere under the bottom."

LANGUAGES: Terra Santa College in Jerusalem issues a periodical called The Review. . . . In a recent number there were articles in English, Arabic, Italian, French, Spanish, Greek, Armenian, Turkish, Ethiopic and Syriac. . . . Guess they never heard of Hebrew.

MISH-MASH: Hank Levy, ex-JTAer who now is on the staff of the American Jewish Committee, is quite an expert on Methodism. . . . He is the author of an article on the Methodist Church merger in the June issue of Current History. . . . The article is nom-de-plumed Harvey W. Lawrence. . . . Dorothy Frank, of the Stroock family, is doing a weekly book column over Radio Station WHN. . . . The Delmarva Lodge of the Independent Order of B'rith Sholom gets its name from the fact that its members come from Delaware, Maryland and Virginia. . . . The Seattle Jewish Transcript recently published a pix of the late Felix M. Warburg with the caption "Paul Felix Warburg—he announces a gift." . . . The Standard Oil Company, without fanfare, has made a good-sized donation to the cause of refugee rehabilitation. . . . Three days before Author Ernst Toller committed suicide by hanging, he said to New York Post Columnist Len Lyons: "We all must do something to help Culture survive. Its foremost proponents are being exiled, and the men of wealth who can help are doing nothing." . . . A record run is in view for "The Oppenheim Family," Soviet film version of the Feuchtwanger novel, currently playing at the Cameo in New York. . . . Anti-Nazi organizations are getting behind the newest anti-Hitler play on Broadway, "The Brown Danube." . . . Peters will give a fuller report next week. . . . Ex-Soviet Foreign Commissar Litvinov, British papers recall, was once a peddler in Ireland, selling cheap jewelry items and fancy goods. . . . His partner, David Levinson, a brother-in-law, built up a flourishing furniture business in Ireland. . . . See by the papers that Edward G. Robinson and not Paul Muni, as originally planned, will be playing the title role in Warner Brothers' forthcoming film, "Dr. Ehrlich," which will relate the troubles and triumphs of the discoverer of salvarsan. . . . Winchell reveals that one of those anti-Semitic gents who was recently front-paged in connection with the Dies investigation maintains a love-nest in a Central Park West penthouse. . . . The notice being a Jewess.

Conversions For Sale

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
BUDAPEST—A fantastic confidence game in which a pseudobishop furnished Jews with certificates of conversion for prices ranging from 50 to 200 pengoes (about $10 to $40) was revealed here. Police arrested Etienne Nemeth, who had allegedly installed a false altar in his room, where he practiced "mass conversions." Jews possessing his certificates were able to change their religion on the civil register, officials said.

U. S. Zionists Ban Demonstrations Against King, Queen

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK—The National Emergency Committee for Palestine, in a statement, voiced "emphatic disapproval" of anonymous circulars calling for a demonstration against Britain's Palestine policy when King George and Queen Elizabeth arrived in the United States. Resistance to the White Paper "bears no relation whatever to the visit of the royal heads of Great Britain," the statement said.

The committee also made public a statement of Dr. Charles S. McFarland, general secretary emeritus of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, opposing the new British policy. He expressed the belief that Christians in Palestine would not welcome a return to Arab rule, that it would be unjust to place the Jews under an Arab administration and that Jewish refugees have a right to look to Palestine "in this unhappy hour."

Bias Against Chicago Candidates Futile

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
CHICAGO—Four Jews were re-elected in this week's judicial election on the Democratic-Republican coalition ticket for a six-year term. They are Benjamin P. Epstein, Hugo N. Friend, Hattie N. Fisher and Michael Feinberg. A fifth Jewish candidate, Ulysses S. Schwartz, was elected for two years to fill the unexpired term of a judge who died in office.

Judge Feinberg won despite a campaign against him which involved the racial issue. On election night a sign with the words "Heil Hitler" was put up over the vacant Panorama Theater. It was taken down by the police. A week before a huge swastika flag had been removed from the flagstaff at Bidler Grade School.

Gen. Moseley Courteous, Jewish Teacher Finds

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK—General Moseley arranged an interview with a New York Jewish teacher who wrote to him protesting against his anti-Jewish utterances, it was revealed this week, and then told her: "For 2,000 years, the Jews have been thrown out of every country, and within ten years they will be thrown out of this country." The teacher, Mrs. Rita Schenkman, of Queens, said that Moseley had suggested the interview as a means of reaching agreement. She found him "a thorough gentleman, most kind and courteous, but his mind was definitely warped."

Our Film Folk of HOLLYWOOD

By HELEN ZIGMOND

HOLLYWOOD.—Things I never knew till now—and lost no sleep over:

Twenty-five years ago Hollywood was born . . . in a barn. At what is now the city's busiest intersection, one Jacob Stern rented a half of his barn to C. B. DeMille for $25 a month . . . retained the other half to shelter his horse and buggy. DeMille transformed the stalls into dressing rooms . . . used the outdoors for scenery . . . produced, with his partner, Jesse Lasky, a colossal epic, "The Squaw Man," at a cost of less than a million cents!

The barn stands today on the Paramount lot . . . as a gymnasium.

Fannie Brice is one Jewish comedienne who can't speak Yiddish! The few words she sometimes uses are scattered pickups from show business.

Eddie Graham, script writer for Eddie Cantor, is . . . Eddie Cantor!

Eighty-five million people attend the movies weekly in the United States. The average price of admission is 23 cents. The average Class A picture is shown in approximately 10,000 theaters in the U. S. The average playing life of a film is from four to five months. A Hollywood premiere costs approximately $35,000.

Joe Schenck is the only Hollywooder who actually has a house on Hollywood boulevard—and he doesn't live in it.

Jack Benny trod the vaudeville boards for four years in a piano-violin act (he on the violin) . . . and caused no-flurry among the critics.

When John Garfield was a blessed event, the stock dropped him at Mr. Garfinkle's house.

In its modern edition, "Alexander's Ragtime Band," song hit, has sold 250,000 copies . . . which tops its original sale in 1911, 50,000.

The Editor's Chair:

I have just read the first two issues of "Equality," the "monthly journal to defend democratic rights and combat anti-Semitism and racism." Well gotten up and arranged in a pleasing typographical dress, "Equality" should be a successful magazine. Should be a success, I say, but in all probability will not. Why? Because, although based on the highest moral precept, the magazine runs counter to human nature.

Human nature can stand only so much "horror" news. Despite the individual's honest intent to learn the worst so he may know the actual facts, his moral "stomach" becomes bilious, and he is forced to turn aside after just so much.

I speak from experience. This paper throws away about 90 per cent of the atrocity news it receives each week. Yet the one big criticism, the perennial complaint, is that all our news is "horror" news.

What to do? Ignore the criticisms and stuff down the people's throats what they don't want. Really, in the secondary press, this is an impossibility. Because the Anglo-Jewish press is definitely not an essential in the lives of the people it appeals to, readers refuse to buy the paper rather than read something they begin to hate and resent.

And so I say, "Equality" will flounder. I hope not, but my better judgment tells me that it is a fated publication. And this despite the fact that in its first issue it reprinted in full our leading editorial of some weeks back, entitled "We Have a Right to Know."

Jews, Arabs Kill As Eleven Dead

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

JERUSALEM—Eleven persons were killed and a score wounded in a series of bombings in Jerusalem and the ambushing of a railway trolley between Kalkillia and Ral-el-Ein.

A band of terrorists attacked the trolley, killing four British soldiers and three Jewish constables. The assailants were reported to have made off with a supply of arms and ammunition. Royal Air Force planes later located and attacked the band.

The fourth of a series of bomb explosions in Jerusalem within a few hours killed four Arabs and wounded about twenty. Three previous bombs, exploding under man-hole covers, destroyed telephone lines, cutting off service from 1,700 wires.

Drat Those Daily Papers

BELEAGUERED week after week by an avalanche of "horror" stories, most Jews, and this paper included, took in their stride news of the steamer-full of Jewish exiles sailing the Caribbean between Germany and any lesser Hell. But lo, and behold, the daily press seized upon the human element, played it up in searing banners, and an honest public opinion is beginning to be outraged just at the time when informed Jews were beginning to become apathetic.

Why Shift The Responsibility

BECAUSE of the criticism of the masses of American Jewry for its inability, the General Defense Council, it has been learned, has advised Jewish communities to set up local committees to fight Father Coughlin in every way deemed advisable. Programs on local stations carrying the Coughlin broadcast immediately following the radio speech, sale and distribution of factual pamphlets exposing the inaccuracies, and other

We had lost sight of the individual human suffering. Not so much that we had become calloused, but more that our minds had become so overwrought with the sufferings that our only hope for a normal existence was to relegate most of the sufferings to a rear room where it popped up less often than as in the past.

But here we are again, drat those daily papers. They make us wallow in our own misery.

methods have been suggested to local communities.

In most costs, this paper feels, this new move will avail nothing. If national Jewish organizations with their resources in brain power and experience have not been able to stem the tide of Coughlinism, why is it felt that local communities can do a better job?

Current Comment

Method of Promoting Rabbis Should Be Adopted, Ralph W. Mack Tells Graduating Reform Rabbis.—Graduates may hesitate to accept calls from smaller communities for fear that they become "forgotten men." I think some machinery should be set up to provide a program of promotion and a method of procedure for Rabbis seeking positions and for congregations seeking Rabbis. This would tend to stimulate the younger men in smaller communities to their best efforts and they could look forward to due recognition in the course of time.

The Jewish World of Boston, Points Out The New Meaning of Jewish Summer Camps.—In a few weeks schools will be closed and boys and girls will once more have two months of freedom. Just how they will utilize their spare time until September depends a great deal on the interest and attitude their parents have in their character and upbuilding. Many will accompany their mothers to summer resorts which include the beach, hotel and country variety. But many familiar with the excellent educational values of the summer children's camp will enroll their boys and girls in one of the several of these fine institutions now dotting New England.

The summer children's camp is now recognized as an integral part of our educational system. It has become an accepted fact among American educators that camp education at its best is clearly recognized as complementary to school education and existence in the city. And Jews, too, are subscribing heartily to this movement. Camping is becoming of especial significance to the Jewish community of America. With a racial background of nerve-racking persecution and a daily environment of high pressure business and professional requirements for survival, the change in life represented by camping is particularly necessary and advantageous for the health and happiness of our young people.

The camp movement in America, now definitely established as a phase of the educational system, has also become an important factor in the field of Jewish pedagogy. A number of our camps have excellent Jewish consciousness programs. These include special Sabbath and daily services, a Hebrew speaking table during mess, dramatic and other programs having Jewish tendencies, a Macabadiad as part of the athletic program, Hebrew songs on hikes, during assemblies and at camp fires, etc., etc.

Today, some Jewish camps—and it is pathetic that there are not more such camps—not only restore puny, fretful tired lads to robust health, but when they return home have a new conception of Jewish life—a more healthy conception.

Parents today realize that camp for a boy or girl is not an amusement or a luxury. It is necessary for health and future happiness.

Harold B. Allen, Newly Named President of The National Farm School, Remarks on His Election, a Gentile, to Head a Jewish Institution.—And this reminds me of another serious thought: the more I have considered my recent appointment, the more I am conscious of the honor you have conferred upon me. At a time when intolerance is lifting up its ugly head in other parts of the world, and in some sections of our own country, a Jewish institution selects a Gentile president. This in an honor which I shall always cherish, and strive to protect. It represents the spirit of the founder of this school. It stands for the kind of Americanism that you believe in, that I believe in. Perhaps this philosophy of life represents the real mission of our Farm School. And such leadership will be appreciated and respected by the best minds of this country.

The B'nai B'rith Messenger, Los Angeles, Calif., Points Out Danger In Cunning Anti-Semitic Letters.—To trace all the nefarious activities of the Nazis of America would require an army of investigators, while a complete record of their propagandistic methods would fill the Los Angeles County Library. Constructed entirely upon a foundation of lies, the propaganda is effective simply by reason of constant repetition.

An example of a new type of propaganda which can instantly be "spotted" by well-informed persons is found in a letter recently sent to a number of women's clubs of the Southern California region. The message, purportedly from a Jewish agency organized to aid Jewish refugees from Germany, pleads for the reader's "moral support" to "make America a haven for the persecuted Jews of Nazi Germany."

"Money is not needed!" the letter emphasizes, stating that the "influential and wealthy Jews" of America are co-operating in the movement. Listing the steps necessary to "make America a haven for the persecuted Jews of the world," the letter urges the reader to "spread the word that America must go to war with Germany; if the Nazis are not defeated, the expelled Jews will never again regain the possessions taken away from them by the monster, Hitler!"

The signature is a name that is not uncommon among Jewish people. Needless to say, there is no such person and there is no organization such as that "sponsoring" the letter.

Clumsily-conceived as it is, the seeming restraint in utterance throughout lends a plausibility that undoubtedly deceives a few recipients of the letters. Naturally to those familiar with Nazi tactics, the communication is immediately recognized as a Nazi-devised instrument with which to arouse resentment against Jews and refugees from Fascist countries generally.

This communication has been amply disclaimed by all responsible agencies equipped to speak for Jewry. But it is not sufficient, we feel, for Jewry merely to disclaim responsibility.

It is ridiculous to dismiss this particular attempt at incitement toward hatred, as harmless. It is even greater folly to maintain that such actions are beyond the scope of punitive measures. If there are no laws governing attacks of this nature, some legislation should be set up making it possible for civil authorities to deal with such rascality.

To those who realize that political anti-Semitism is simply the entering wedge for the broader menace of dictatorship, such regulation is the very least the situation calls for.

Doris Duke, Hubby To Match Rutgers Aid To Refugees

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—Jimmy Cromwell and his wife, the former Doris Duke, tobacco millionairess, have agreed to match, dollar for dollar, all future contributions to the student refugee scholarship fund of Rutgers University and New Jersey College for Women, both at New Brunswick, N. J.

Students of the two colleges quoted Cromwell as saying: "Although we realize that there are many students in this country who need assistance in completing their college education, it is our hope that helping students in this humanitarian work will serve to make American students more conscious of the liberties and privileges enjoyed in these United States."

Denied Permission to Land

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay—Seventy-eight German Jewish refugees who arrived here en route to Paraguay were refused permission to land from the German liner Monte Olivia when the Paraguayan Government forbade their entry. They will be obliged to return to Germany. Word was received here that six of the twenty-one refugees aboard the German liner Cap Norte were permitted to land at Buenos Aires and the rest were forced to return to Europe.

Refugees Need Food, Clothing

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

TEL AVIV—The 424 Jewish refugees from Danzig who had been wandering on the high seas since March and had found shelter in the Island of Crete appealed to Jewish organizations in Tel Aviv for food and clothing.

Jerusalem district punished the Jews for the bombings by suspending three more Jewish bus routes—those to the Old City, Boukharia and Kerem Abraham quarters—thus leaving all main routes closed except for the lines to distant suburbs. Thousands of Jews will be forced to walk by Arab quarters where hundreds of Jews have been killed and wounded in the past three years.
